A Terrific Explosion in the Woolwich Arsenal.

Buildings Wrecked and Terrible Loss of Life—A Deadly Fusillade in the Rocket Manufactory—Falls Among Workmen and Many Trampled to Death.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—A terrific explosion has occurred in the rocket factory of the Woolwich arsenal, by which a large number of persons were killed and wounded, and the building and those immediately surrounding it were badly wrecked. As far as can be learned at present, the disaster resulted from the mysterious explosion of one of a bunch of rockets, the sparks from which ignited others set off, one after another, with lightning rapidity. A regular fusillade ensued, the missiles exploding in all directions with deafening detonations, resembling the firing of numerous batteries of artillery. The workmen became panic-stricken, and fled precipitately from the building, knocking down one another in their mad haste to get out of the place. In this way many lost their lives by being trampled to death, while scores of others were either killed or wounded by the explosion of the rockets. Great excitement prevails in the vicinity of the explosion, and ambulances are rushing to and from the various hospitals in all directions loaded down with the dead and wounded. No definite estimate of the number killed and wounded can be given at the present time, as the continued explosions prevent the sending in of exploring parties.

The explosives caused a fearful destruction of property throughout the town and in the surrounding district. The fire was extinguished at noon, when the rockets ceased their explosions. Old soldiers declare the explosions of the rockets during the fire were as frightful as if occurring in actual siege. Two bodies of the victims have been found. Some of the war rockets were projected a distance of five miles. One of them went through the wall of the arsenal and another struck the artillery barracks.

The exploding rockets literally bombarded the town of Woolwich. Two houses have been completely wrecked, and explosions occurred in the infant school and several grocers' establishments.

FOUR BLIND BROTHERS.

The Happy and Useful Life of a Strangely Afflicted Family.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The four blind musical brothers of Uniontown read like the caption to a scene in the Arabian Nights than a simple statement of facts. A family of this singular description have, however, been living in a suburb of Washington. Uniontown is a little settlement that has grown up across the east branch of the Potomac, within easy reach of the navy yard. It is a sleepy, tumble-down village, whose chief claim to aristocracy is the nomenclature of the streets, which bear the name of every President to Buchanan. Its chief citizen is, perhaps, Frederick Douglass, who owns a fine country place near the river's bank. Some years ago a family moved into this village from Baltimore of the common name of Smith, but of a very extraordinary family make up. There were or had been twelve or fifteen children, every one of whom, in regular progression, had been born blind. Of this numerous and singular progeny all who were born with sight died but one, a girl, and at present only five children are left, this girl and four blind brothers, named James, Ignatius, George and Alfred. They are all smart and happy, all are masters of some trade, and all are musical. When in a frolicsome mood each in turn will play on the family fiddle while the others dance. One of the brothers is quite an accomplished musician, and supports himself by giving lessons on the piano. The others play merely for recreation. Two are broom makers by trade, and make a broom which is famous through the neighborhood for its excellence. The remaining brother is a cabinet maker, with a special knack at coffins. The oldest of the brothers has a high reputation in Uniontown. Not only can he make the best broom in all that region and make the violin sing, but he is endowed with a wonderful acute sense of touch. It is said, for instance, that he can tell a five from a ten dollar bill by feeling the two notes. One of the brothers is married and has a large family. The sister is the wife of an elderly carpenter. They all live together with their widowed mother and seem to be a happy and affectionate household. Recently they have moved from the settlement some five miles into the country, but they frequent the village still to sell their brooms or provide a coffin

AN OPEN SWITCH.

Thunderbolt Express Dashes Into the End of a Freight.

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 24.—A shocking accident occurred at half-past one o'clock at Talmadge, about four miles north of this city, on the New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio Railroad. Freight train No. 33 pulled in on a side-track, and, supposing that the train behind them was their second section, did not close the switch. The train that followed was a thunderbolt express, with fully two hundred passengers aboard, and went crashing into the rear end of the freight at the rate of thirty miles per hour. When within about ten rods of the freight train Engineer John Ball, of the express, the oldest engineer on the road, saw the open switch. He reversed his engine, set the air-brakes, and then, with his fireman, William Nazer, jumped from his engine only a moment before the frightful collision.

Ball had a leg broken and was cut terribly on the head. His condition is critical. Nazer received a scalp wound and was otherwise bruised, but not dangerously. A. A. Stonehill and S. Waltman, brakemen on the freight, were in the caboose, and jumped just before the collision. Both were considerably hurt. Stonehill having the bones broken in one foot. The passenger were terribly shaken up, and some were seriously bruised, but none fatally hurt. The engine and tender were dashed to pieces and the baggage-car ruined, two other cars were telescoped and broken into fragments, and the loss will be fully $50,000 to the railroad company.

BEAUREGARD ON BUTLER.

A Romance of the Great Rebellion Now First Told.

Boston, Sept. 24.—The New York World prints an interview with General Beauregard, in which that gentleman and soldier tells the following story of kindness done him by General Butler when the latter was in command at New Orleans.

I left home suddenly February 23, 1861, having resigned from the United States Corps of Engineers, on the call of the provisional government of the Confederacy, at Montgomery, Ala. I expected at that time to return in about a fortnight to command in Louisiana, where I had been stationed for many years. Instead, I was ordered to Charleston, S. C., thence to Manassas, thence to West Tennessee, etc., to the end of the war, remaining absent from home four years and three months. When I started from New Orleans Mrs. Beauregard was in very bad health and I was compelled to leave her with her own family to be taken care of; hence I was extremely anxious to return to be with her, but in war a soldier belongs first to his country and then to his family. Shortly after New Orleans was taken possession of by the Federals my wife and family—composed only of ladies, the gentlemen having gone to the war—received an order from General Butler's chief quartermaster to vacate their house in forty-eight hours, as it was to be occupied by Federal officers. An old friend of the family, Dr. Mercer, who was well acquainted with General Butler, went to him to remonstrate against such a proceeding and to explain the condition of Mrs. Beauregard's health. General Butler at once countermanded the order, which, he said, had been given without his approval. Moreover, he sent a guard to protect the house from further intrusion, but the ladies requested the guard to be withdrawn, which was done. The war progressed with variable results, while Mrs. Beauregard's health became worse and worse. At last, in the early spring of 1864, it became evident to her physician and her family that she had not long to live. Our good old friend, Dr. Mercer, again went to General Butler to know if there were no possibility of any seeing once more the tender and loving wife from whom I had been so suddenly and long separated? He immediately turned to his desk, and with his characteristic promptness wrote an unconditional pass, which authorized me to enter his lines and to come to New Orleans, where I could remain unmolested as long as circumstances required my presence there. That was a noble act, for which I shall ever be grateful. It is doubtful, in my mind, whether many officers of the United States service would have been willing to assume such a responsibility without first referring the matter to the War Department at Washington. When I received the pass Charleston was threatened with another serious attack, and General Seymour of the United States Army was about to leave Jacksonville, Fla., on an expedition across North Florida, thence to the Gulf of Mexico, and I was organizing a force to check his march, which was done shortly after by Generals Fanning and Colquitt, at the battle of Olustee or Ocean Pond. I was thus placed in the painful dilemma of selecting between my duty as a commander and my affection as a husband. I declined the pass so generously tendered. Two weeks after, while my troops were in front of Jacksonville, in which General Seymour had retreated after his defeat, I received and read by the dismal light of a camp-fire, the news of the death of one whom I loved dearer than life. We had been married less than one year when we parted, and I never saw her again.

SHORE LINE SHOOTING.

Described by an Eye-Witness—The Wound Not Dangerous.

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 24.—Frank McCannon, who was present at the shooting near Reed's pond, on the Shore Line railroad, when Edward Gibbons was shot by Rensford Gratz, says the two men had had trouble before. Gratz came into the city and told Palmer, for whom Gibbons was driving a team, that he (Gibbons) was not doing the work he should. Wednesday Gibbons was late to supper, and after he had eaten he asked Gratz why he had been eating like a lion. Gratz replied that he had told no lies. "Yes, you have," said Gibbons. "I don't allow any man to call me a liar," said Gratz, whereupon he reached his hand in his pocket, pulled out a revolver and fired. McCannon and Gibbons were the only men in the crew who know Gratz. McCannon rushed toward Gratz, who pointed the revolver at his (McCannon's) breast, "and upon that," said McCannon, "I got out of the way." Gratz went into a corner of the room, flung his revolver, and said he would blow the brains out of the first man who touched him. Gratz was captured in the vicinity of Ellsworth by the officials of Hancock county. Gratz has been in this city for a few years past. He is a thick-set man, and light complexioned and has light hair and sandy mustache. He is about 36 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches high and weighs 165 pounds. Gratz bought the revolver in this city Wednesday. He told several persons, it is said, that he should shoot Gibbons. The bullet he not yet been extracted from Gibbons, but the wound is not considered dangerous. This is the second shooting affair on the Shore Line road within two weeks.

MURDERED IN CAMP.

Officers in Search of Thieves Commit Murder and Robbery.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 24.—A terrible tragedy is reported from the Choctaw Nation, in which two men were killed outright and several wounded. Some time ago a party of four men camped upon Big Creek for the purpose of hunting and fishing. They gave their names as Saddle, Tipton and the Gray brothers, and claimed to reside in the vicinity of Paris, Texas. Last Wednesday night the camp was raided by a posse searching for horse thieves, who asked the campers to surrender. The demand was refused and a fight ensued, during which Saddle and one of the Gray brothers were killed, being shot with pistols. Tipton and the older Gray mounted their horses and escaped, going toward the mountains. It is said that the assailants plundered the camp, taking a lot of valuable personal effects.

CURED BY FAITH.

Another Alleged Case of Divine Doctoring.

The Strange Story Told By the Relatives and Friends of Lizzie Cronin—The Effects of a Sleigh-Ride Accident and the Effects of Piety Upon a Case of Palsy.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 24.—A strange story is told by the relatives and friends of Miss Mary Lizzie Cronin, residing with her parents at 103 Bennington street, East Boston, who has been restored to comparative health without the aid of medicine. A visit to the young lady elicited the following statement: In the winter of 1880-1 Miss Cronin was enjoying a sleigh ride with a party of friends, when from some unforeseen accident she was thrown out, receiving what was at the time considered but slight bruises. The following October she was taken violently sick with pains in the back and headaches, which were at times excruciating. After suffering for some days a physician was called, who pronounced it a case of typhoid fever, combined with inflammation and obstruction of the bowels and palsy. The sufferer remained in this condition for some four months, suffering the most intense agony without any intermission, and at the same time tossing on her bed night and day without closing her eyes. Immediately after taking to her bed a complete numbness took possession of her lower extremities, and she lost all control of her limbs. During the winter of 1881, and until the following February, there was no cessation from the terrible torture, nor, indeed, up to some three weeks ago, when a novena to Our Lady of Perpetual Help was tried. The result was wonderful, and two weeks ago another novena was tried. Saturday Miss Cronin was able to walk without help and pain, and her physicians pronounce the cure complete.

HOADLY'S HEALTH.

Runners Set at Rest A Fitting Tribute to Republican Liberty.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 24.—"I notice in the Globe what purports to be a special from Philadelphia to the effect that Judge Hoadly's condition is alarming, and that there are fears among his friends that he may not ultimately recover. I do not know the source from whence you obtain your information, but do know that there is not the slightest foundation for the rumor. The Democratic State Convention has a letter from Judge Hoadly himself, in which he speaks encouragingly of his condition, and says that his physician declares that he will be able to return to Ohio next week.

"I want to call the Globe's attention to the fact that in the campaign of 1881, when President Garfield was stricken down by the shot of an assassin, the Democrats considerably refused to precipitate an open war between the two great political parties in Ohio while the President's fate was balancing between life and death. In this campaign there can be no question but that Judge Hoadly has been very sick, but it is an act of Providence for which neither the Judge nor the Democratic party is responsible, and yet our Republican friends seem to think that the unfortunate sickness of Judge Hoadly is a subject fit for ridicule, and out of which they can extract campaign capital. The Democratic party asks for no sympathy and needs none in this fight, because it is going to win; but common decency, I should think, would lead the Republican press and speakers to accord at least some show of respect to a sick man.

"D. C. BALESTINE, "Secretary Democratic State Central Committee."

Caught at the Crossing.

DRAKE, Ill., Sept. 24.—Samuel P. Davis, a farmer on his way homeward, with his wife and two children accompanying him, attempted to cross the track of the Indianapolis, Bloomington and Western Railway, when a freight train, going at the rate of fifteen miles an hour, came down the hill and threw the wagon and its occupants off the track into the ditch. Mrs. Davis and one of the children were knocked senseless, and the other child and the farmer were badly stunned and bruised. All were severely hurt, but none fatally. It was a miraculous escape from instant death. One child may die. The wagon was totally wrecked, but the horses escaped. Davis says that no signal was sounded by the engine.

Thrown From a Carriage.

GREENVILLE, Ill., Sept. 24.—Mrs. L. S. Brooks, residing three miles in the country, and her mother, Mrs. McMillan, of Fairport, N. Y., while coming to town in the morning, met with a serious accident. Their horse became frightened at an empty barrel and ran away, throwing the ladies and two children with them violently to the ground. Mrs. Brooks had several ribs broken, and her mother was severely cut and bruised, but, strange to say, the children were unharmed. The carriage was smashed to smithereens. The ladies were taken home.

A Granary Burned.

WACO, Tex., Sept. 24.—The granary of Professor Samuel P. Wright, situated about two miles from this city, was destroyed by fire in the afternoon. His entire crop had been harvested and the insurance was comparatively small. The figures can not be obtained. The Waco Fire Department started for the scene of the conflagration, but upon discovering that it was outside the city limits abandoned the trip. Mr. Wright was badly burned about the face and head.

A Brakeman's Fate.

VIRGEN, Ill., Sept. 24.—While the southbound way freight was switching in the yards at this place at noon, Archibald Young, aged about twenty years, while making a coupling, caught his foot in a frog, the train lingered until 2:30 p. m. His parents reside in Colorado Springs, Col. The remains will be taken to Springfield.

SLOSSON STRIKES BACK.

Giving the Lie to Sexton and Offering to Play Anybody.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 24.—George F. Slosson says that in January last he offered to play both Schaefer and Sexton, at balk line and cushion, and deposited a forfeit with the Clipper, but neither noticed it. He challenged Vignaux, who sneaked out of the country without replying. He added: "The statement that the Vignaux challenge would arrive on the 14th is a lie. I defy Sexton to show where the rule gave the challenge party the right to name the place of playing. As to Sexton's statement that Schaefer has had no practice at the balk-line game, the file is given to it by reports of his games in the newspapers. Sexton first defied me, and it was his place to put up a deposit. I will give him 200 in 1,000 for the championship in the balk-line game, and toss for choice of tables, or will give him 75 in 600, cushion caroms, myself to name table and cushion, thirty days from the date of acceptance, in New York, for $500 a side. Sexton should read the rules at balk-line billiards before he sets himself as authority. Schaefer has sneaked out of playing me, and I am convinced that the championship match in Paris between Schaefer and Vignaux was a hypodrome, gotten up to advertise a billiard table company, by which Sexton, Schaefer and Vignaux were engaged by the year. In order to force him out, if Sexton means business, let him call on David Bier, Vice-President of the United States Billiard Company, who represents me fully." Slosson left for Chicago in the evening.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

The Smash-up on the Ohio & Mississippi Line.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 24.—A special to the Journal gives very meager particulars of the accident on the Ohio & Mississippi road, west of Seymour, Sunday night. Two passenger trains had been detained at this town by a freight wreck, and in going out the rear train ran into the former one, smashing the sleeper and rear coach and dangerously injuring a number of passengers who were extricated from the wreck by the trainmen cutting away the debris with axes. The names of but few are known. J. W. Taylor, of Buckeye, Ky., had both legs broken, his wife was fatally hurt internally, their little girl badly bruised, and Mrs. Taylor's father, Wiley Dickens, had a leg broken. S. H. Vinson, of Mississippi, had a leg broken, and several others were badly hurt. Lar-kins Phelps, the engineer of the rear train, was fatally injured. A number of other passengers were hurt, but nobody was killed outright, so far as is known. The accident is attributed to the fact that the rear train, which was running very fast, was not properly flagged.

LORD COLERIDGE AT NIAGARA.

A Flying Trip From Buffalo to the Great Cataract.

NIAGARA FALLS, Sept. 24.—Lord Chief Justice Coleridge and accompanying guests left Buffalo at 10 o'clock in the morning on a special train by the New York Central for Lewiston, where they viewed the Niagara River, and arrived here at a quarter after 11, intending to make only a flying visit. Their time being limited, it was previously arranged to show his lordship as much of Niagara scenery as was possible in a few hours. Four of Brundage's coaches were in waiting at the station, and the distinguished party were driven to Prospect Park, Goat Island, Whirlpool Rapids, Table Rock, and the Burning Springs. The freedom of all points of interest was accorded them. His Lordship did not go behind the great sheet of water, but was evidently deeply impressed with the grand scenery. The party were escorted by United States Consul Major James T. Low, and nothing was wanting to make their trip enjoyable. They returned to Buffalo at forty minutes after 5 this evening in the same special train by which they came down.

Killed by the Cars.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 24.—A fatal accident occurred on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad, about four miles from this city. As the incoming passenger train was rounding a curve a woman was seen walking ahead on the track. The engineer gave the alarm signal and reversed the engine, but the woman paid no attention, and was struck by the engine and her body terribly mangled. She was killed instantly, and portions of her entrails were on the machinery of the engine when it reached this city. The lady proved to be Mrs. Lucy Crow, 60 years of age. She was hard of hearing, and was not aware of the danger until too late. Coroner Carey held an inquest, and returned a verdict in accordance with the above facts, exonerating the railroad employees from all blame.

A Dose of Strychnine.

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 24.—William Reamer, a well-to-do farmer living at Brinfield, near here, committed suicide by taking strychnine. He had attempted to embark in several business enterprises of late, his actions leading to the belief that he was deranged. He leaves a wife and several children.

A Barn and Contents Destroyed.

MARSHALL, Mo., Sept. 24.—The barn, grain and hay, farming machinery and two fine horses of John Tracy, a farmer of the northwestern part of this county, were destroyed by fire about 2 o'clock in the morning. Loss, $2,500; insurance, $1,000. It is supposed case of incendiarism.

Fatally Sealed.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Sept. 24.—In Monroe, Sevier county, a little girl named Bates was climbing on a chair when she slipped and fell back into a kettle of boiling water, scalding her so severely that she died after forty hours of great suffering.

Coal Train Wrecked.

READING, Pa., Sept. 24.—Early Saturday morning a Philadelphia and Reading Railroad coal train was wrecked near Royer's Ford and some cars thrown off the track and derailed. Traffic was delayed several hours. No one hurt.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Cholera in China—Mrs. Carey's Arm and Other Items.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The steamer Garth Castle, from Cape Town, with Mrs. Carey and other witnesses of the murder of James Carey, arrived at Plymouth. Detectives who have Mrs. Carey in charge will not allow her to be seen.

IRELAND.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The preparations making for the Convention of the Irish Nationalists' meeting at Leeds indicate the greatest demonstration ever held. Under the advice of Mr. Parnell a programme of moderation is proposed. A Committee of Scrutiny of Delegates has decided to reject all delegates of American lodges associated with Russia. Eighty American delegates are expected.

CHINA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—Chinese advices from the steamer Coptic state that cholera has broken out in Peking.

GERMANY.

BERLIN, Sept. 24.—The North German Gazette declares, on what appears to be official authority, that the recent publications alleged to be the details of an Austro-German alliance, are without foundation in truth, and are the invention of an ingenious correspondent.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The Prince of Wales and the Duke of Edinburgh, Connaught and Cambridge will return to England at the close of the Hamburg maneuvers. It is not thought expedient that they should take part in the ceremonies attending the inauguration of the statue "Germania," on the Rhine. Germany makes it the occasion of a great festival of exceptional magnitude and splendor. All the German sovereigns and princes will be present, excepting the King of Wurtemberg, who is prevented from attending by ill health. There will be 300 veteran clubs and 100 choral societies, and all the Turner clubs in the Empire will be represented. Prince Bismarck writes that the doctors forbid his presence, owing to his state of health.

HAYTI.

PORT AU PRINCE, Sept. 24.—A severe battle is reported between the Government troops and the insurgents in Hayti. Jacmel and Jeremie are in the hands of the insurgents. President Solomon is anxious to leave the island, but is prevented from doing so by his followers, who believe he has $500,000 belonging to the Government on deposit in London and Paris.

MOONSHINER MURDERED.

Another Added to the Long List of Carolina Crimes.

MORGANTOWN, N. C., Sept. 24.—One William Bull, a reputed moonshiner, went to the distillery of Moulton Ramsey to notify him that he was wanted at Burke Court, which is in session, to testify in some suit. While at the distillery, Bull charged officers information about his illegal practices. A quarrel ensued. The men made friends to all appearance, however, and walked off down the road together. Suddenly, without a word of warning, Bull drew a pistol and shot Ramsey through the heart, killing him instantly. Bull is yet at large, and the wild acre of the country will render capture almost impossible, if he secretes himself in the ravines. A posse is in pursuit of him, and $500 reward is offered by the State and county of Burke for his capture.

ANOTHER RATE WAR.

The Monon Line Makes an Aggressive Cut.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—The "Monon" route announced that they would open their air-line to Indianapolis with a $1 rate. The first through train for Indianapolis will leave at 7:55 p. m. and will arrive in Indianapolis at 3:10 a. m., one hour in advance of other trains. The $1 rate to Indianapolis was made, as Col. Jones, of the "Monon" route, said, to let the Pan-handle people see that the "Monon" was tired of being on the defensive. This will make the rate to Cincinnati $4.50; to Dayton $4.30; to Springfield, $5.00; to Urbana, $5.00; to Columbus, $6.30, a decided cut to all Pan-handle points. The Indianapolis cut must necessarily bring several other lines into the fight, and there is no telling where the war will end.

Colliding Freight Trains.

OTTUWA, Ia., Sept. 24.—Two freight trains, one following the other, collided near Huntsville, Mo., on the Wabash Railroad, while going around a curve. The train in front checked up, while the one behind increased her speed about the same time, running into the one in front, upsetting eight loaded cars, demolishing the cars and contents and one engine. No lives were lost.

Murderer Caught.

BERNVILLE, Ark., Sept. 24.—Prince Webb, a notorious bandit and desperado, has been captured and will be tried for the murder of his brother-in-law, Evans, three years ago. His sister, the widow of the murdered man, has been hunting him with detective skill since the tragedy, and wears that he shall hang.

Not so Bad as First Supposed.

MITCHELL, Ind., Sept. 24.—Phelps, the engineer, who was so badly injured in the wreck near Seymour, is still alive, though there is little hope for his recovery. The child Taylor is also still living, though its skull is badly fractured.

Will Face His Accusers.

Try Ayer's Pills and be cured. Misery is a mild word to describe the mischief to body and mind caused by habitual constipation. The regular use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills in mild doses will restore the torpid viscera to healthy action.

The steamer Thompson will leave this city for Ripley on Wednesday and Thursday. The Granite State takes the place of the Bonanza. The Chancellor and Tom Spurlock will make daily trips to Cincinnati leaving Maysville every day at 10 o'clock a. m.

Among the displays at the fair which attracted particular attention and which we failed to notice yesterday were those of Smith & Wardle, dentists; J. C. Pecor & Co., books etc.; Mrs. Wardle, Cincinnati, worsted work; Miss Mattie Carr, Milliney and Robinson & Co., florist.

As handsome and attractive stock of queensware and glassware as we have ever seen in Maysville was lately received by Miss Annie Albert, at the China Palace. It is now on exhibition and an examination will repay the trouble. The entire stock has been selected with rare good taste.

The ladies of the Southern Presbyterian and Episcopal churches, realized from the dining hall privilege, during the fair, about $400 over and above all expenses. They have also the satisfaction of knowing that they provided the best dinner ever given at any fair in this State or elsewhere.

Another Enterprise.

Articles incorporating the North Eastern Kentucky Telephone Association were filed at the office of the County Clerk on the 24th inst., by Messrs. J. J. Wood, T. J. Chenoweth, H. C. Barkley, J. C. Owens and W. W. Holton, of this city; W. H. Howe, of Morefield; O. S. Deming, of Mt. Olivet; J. T. Wilson, of Mayslick, and Henry Pyles, of Sardis.

The corporation is formed for the purpose of constructing and operating a telephone line from Maysville to Carlisle by way of Lewisburg, Helena, Mayslick, Peed's store, Oak Woods and Blue Licks; to be branched from Helena to Elizaville, by way of Johnson's Station, and from Mayslick to Mt. Olivet, by way of Shannon and Sardis, and a line from Maysville to Brooksville, by way of Fern Leaf and Germantown. The capital stock of the association is to be $10,000, divided into shares of $25 each, of which $3,000 has already been subscribed. The principal place of transacting the business of the Association is Maysville, and the work is to begin immediately. The affairs of the Association are to be conducted and managed by a board of directors and President thereof, a Treasurer and a Secretary. At a called meeting held on Friday evening, the following board and officers were chosen to serve until the last Friday in next September:

President—T. J. Chenoweth.
Treasurer—H. C. Barkley.
Secretary—H. January.

DIRECTORS.

H. C. Barkley, W. W. Holton,
J. J. Wood, T. J. Chenoweth,
John T. Wilson, W. H. Howe,
Henry Pyles.

A stockholders' meeting for the election of a board of directors and other officers is to be held on the last Friday of September of each year, at which each stockholder will be entitled to one vote for every share of stock subscribed, which he may vote in person or by proxy. The limit of the indebtedness of the Association is fixed at $2,000, and there is to be no individual liability for the debts of the Association. The enterprise is an important one, and promises to greatly benefit the business interests of the city. It is in good hands and will be properly managed.

A Maysville Girl Abroad.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 20, 1883.
Editor Bulletin: I promised you in my last letter that I would give you a description of Fairmount Park and the Mint. I will now try to fulfill my promise. I have been to other places of interest since then, and will also try to give you a description of them. On Monday we started for the park, stopping on our way at the Eastern Penitentiary of Pennsylvania. This building is situated on Fairmount Avenue on the north, and Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets on the east and west, and Corinthian Avenue on the south. Our tickets of admission were procured from Richard Vaux, Esq., Superintendent of the Penitentiary. This is a massive and beautiful structure of grey sand-stone, built in the Gothic style. The entrance is situated about midway of the building on Fairmount Avenue. On entering we presented our tickets to the door-keeper, who then gave us tickets of return. Then proceeding along the main passage way a distance of about two hundred feet brought us to the central forum of the building, and registering our names we were then conducted through the building by one of the overseers. First we were conducted to one of the cells on the first floor, which was a spacious and well ventilated compartment, neat, clean, furnished with a cot, table, gas, water, and a clock. The walls, as a general rule, throughout the entire building, are whitewashed once a week by the prisoner occupying the cell. Proceeding up stairs we were admitted to one of the cells which was similar to those on the first floor. Then we went to the library. This contains two thousand volumes of useful and interesting books. The prisoners can select two books a week of their own choice, and can keep them out two weeks. From there we proceeded to the kitchen where the cooking is done by steam. Adjoining this is the bakery, where seven men are busily engaged making about three thousand loaves of bread a day. Then returning to the central forum we took a view of the corridors, which are seven in number. At present there are nine hundred and ninety-four prisoners confined in this prison, of which thirty-four are females. I could give you a fuller account of this place, but space will not permit me to do so.

Leaving the prison we proceeded down Fairmount Avenue to the park. This park contains two thousand seven hundred and thirty acres. On entering we stopped at the Pompeian Museum. This is a low structure, built on the Pompeian style. The interior of this building is handsomely frescoed, and contains thirty-four views of the ruins of Pompeii. The most interesting ones are "The House of Cornelius Rufinus," "The General Panoramia of Pompeian Excavations," "The Amphitheatre," "The House of a Tragic Poet," and "The Last Eruption of Vesuvius." Then proceeding along the river road we arrived at the Water Works. This is a low structure of white marble, which contains about twenty-five powerful pumps; these are set in motion by large turbine water wheels. After leaving there we went to the Observatory, which is situated on Lemon Hill. This is a large iron structure, erected by the Phoenixville Iron Works. It is about four hundred feet above the level of the Schuylkill river. Looking from the top of this structure you have a fine view of the city. From thence, proceeding along a handsome drive, we passed the children's play ground, on our way to Memorial Hall. This is one of the many buildings erected during the Centennial Exposition. It is built of granite, and is used as a State Museum. It contains a large collection of paintings, statuary, models of different cities, etc. From there we went to Horticultural Hall. The interior of this building contains a large collection of rare and exotic plants. From the western balcony of this building can be seen numerous fountains, flower beds, and statuary, which I have not time nor space to describe. Mr. Editor, I have given you the description of one day's stroll through the park, but of course this is only a small portion of what can be seen there.

On returning from the park we stopped at the Mint. This is located on Chestnut street, near Broad. It is built of marble, Gothic style. On entering we were met by a guide who showed us through the building, and pointed out to us all the items of interest. We saw gold and silver bullion, and the process of melting, rolling, stamping, and the coining of money. Then we were shown all the different coins and metals of this and other countries. Not having time at present to give any further notes, I will close, promising to give you more interesting details in my next letter.

Baby Show.

The following is a correct list of the entries at the baby show. One of the judges informs us that it was the finest lot of youngsters in the United States: Gerude Harding, aged seven months, Mason county; Siddle F. Pierce, aged seven months, city; Nannie B. Waller, aged two months, Carlisle; A. Luttrell Young, aged six months, city; Franklin Barnett, aged five months, Cabin Creek; Mamie Conway, aged fourteen months, Paris; Nelson Crump, aged sixteen months, Nicholas county; Ellen D. Kilgore, aged nine months, Mason county; L. Lee Roser, aged twelve months, Mason county; Lizzie Calkrell, aged twelve months, Portsmouth, Ohio; L. A. Collins, aged five months, Mason county; Bessie Bradford, aged nine months, Kentucky Creek; Emma Slade, aged twelve months, Mason county.

PERSONALS.

Miss Ada McCreary, of Poplar Plains, is the guest of Miss Lettie Owens, of East Maysville.

Messrs. Henry Marsh and Chas. Martin left yesterday to attend lectures at the Cleveland Homeopathic Hospital Institute.

Mr. Mary Wood, of Arlington, Ill., formerly of this county, Dr. L. Herr and son of Lexington, Ky., and Miss Florence Bolls, of Sharpburg, Ky., were the guests of Mrs. Thos. Daulton last week.

Band Concert.

Another concert will be given this evening by Haucke's reed and brass band, at East End Park, when the following programme will be rendered: Christmas, quickstep.....Southwell Grand Fanfare—Die Hugenotten.....Myerliet Rose and Lillies—Cornet solo.....Rollensu Walzes—Salvation.....Strauss

The concert begins promptly at half-past seven o'clock.

ATTENTION is directed to the business card of Dr. T. H. N. Smith printed elsewhere. Dr. Smith is a skilled dentist and has had long and successful experience in operative dentistry and especially in the preservation of the natural teeth, of which branch he makes a specialty. Associated with him is Dr. Charles Wardle, a graduate of the Ohio Dental College, and one of the best mechanical dentists in the west. His work for many years was used by all the leading dentists of Cincinnati who willingly testify to its excellence. Messrs. Smith & Wardle are prepared to do all work in their line as well as it can be done anywhere in the United States.

ABERDEEN ITEMS.

Prof. Fred Test is also added to the list of single gentlemen.

Didn't the look sweet Sunday carrying his cane? Of course he is proud of her.

Mr. Hurbert, who does business in Columbus, O., is visiting his home, Rose Terrace.

Mr. T. C. Carr is on a business trip through Kentucky this week, not Ohio if you please.

Miss Richmond, a very refined and attractive young lady of Georgetown, D., is visiting Mrs. Arthur Power.

Mr. Boswell, our dry goods merchant has returned from the east with a handsome supply of fall goods.

The choir at the Methodist Church has greatly improved since the advent of the handsome new pastor.

Mrs. George Schiltz will leave in several weeks, accompanied by her two sons, for St. Louis, to take the fall.

Another Manchester gentleman will soon deprive us of a most sweet and attractive young lady—also of the suburbs.

Mrs. Dr. Guthrie has returned from Portsmouth, having been there to make the acquaintance of her new nephew.

The Maysville fair-brought a rush of people to the town, and also rushed the "squire," whilst he is cooling money, we hope they are reaping haplooses.

The people were delighted with the copious rain-fall-overflowing the late crops, cisterns, barrels, tubs, bucket, pails, yet every drop was precious.

Madame Grundy says our dreamy dark eyed brunette of third street, will be the next to step on a runaway horse.

Mr. Gwynne, of Second street, they say, has completely charmed the musical ears of that neighborhood with the sweet strains of that new music box.

Mrs. Sarah Jones is entertaining a host of her Lewis county relatives. We will style them Mr. and Mrs. No-name, as Mrs. Jones don't wish their names reported.

Mr. A. T. Borts, report says, will wed Miss Lettie Jones this week. She will be the bride of sterling qualities, and he will possess of every womanly attribute.

Rev. J. S. Whitney, we are pleased to say, is quite a handsome man, and single, too, so he is just the thing for Mr. W. W. who wishes of Aberdeen's fair daughters will captivate him?

Saturday afternoon we noticed Mr. Nills Gilbert out driving with his sweetheart on the levelled road, proudly managing the reins of that spirited sorrel, which he recently purchased.

Miss Lettie Jones, whom it was announced last week as being seriously ill, the reporter learned yesterday, is again on her feet, and well-disposed, still it was nothing of a serious character.

Mrs. Minnie Gilmore, of Maysville, whose poems grace the columns of many of our papers, is visiting Mrs. May Jones, whose husband is one of our most successful railroad contractors.

We hear one of our prominent business gentlemen is again about to indulge his love for spirited horses by purchasing a thoroughbred, which, no doubt, will take the blue ribbon at the Ripley fair.

Those persons who think Hippiana a peculiar name for a lady to take, will tell them what a useful name it is, for it is the name of a horse, and as we are passionately fond of horses, hence our love for the name.

When that dude attempted a flirtation perhaps he would have succeeded better if he had used such an humorous handkerchief. The young lady thought he was kindly warning her of danger ahead. That is why she retreated. She never fails to recognize the signs of distress—the red flag waving in the distance.

There are several reasons why the Equitable life takes the lead of all others doing business in the United States. One reason is the promptness with which losses are paid, the society not taking the usual sixty to ninety days time. This is the rule and not an exception. Below is a sample. Any person desiring life insurance would do well to apply to Jos. F. Brodrick, Agent, Maysville, Ky.: New York, July 31, 1883.

Mr. T. B. Denton, General Agent—Dear Sir, Accept our thanks for the promptness with which the Equitable Life Assurance Society has paid to the estate, without rebate, the amount of insurance upon the life of Joseph Keckendorfer, late of this city, $50,000 immediately on presentation of the policies.
